MIDDLE OF THE ARTS

In Ottawa, creativity is woven into the fabric of the community. As a city that celebrates both tradition and innovation, Ottawa is a vibrant hub for the arts—where historic charm meets modern expression. Visit Open Space Art Gallery and Studio to experience the works of talented local and regional artists, or take a stroll through downtown to discover vibrant murals that add a splash of color to the cityscape. Enjoy live performances that bring stories to life and immerse yourself in artisan craft fairs and thought-provoking exhibits that reflect our dynamic cultural scene.

Ottawa's commitment to fostering creativity is exemplified by its dedicated Arts Committee, which continuously supports and promotes artistic initiatives throughout the community. Whether you're inspired by the legacy of past innovators or captivated by today's forward-thinking creators, Ottawa is where art meets heart—a place where imagination and history blend seamlessly.

As the Middle of Everywhere, Ottawa is a hub of culture, excitement, and the arts. There are new, ongoing measures to bring more art to the community. What better way to express creativity and artistic skill than painting upon the canvas of Ottawa?

New to Ottawa this spring are large, painted marbles. These will be installed around town and painted by expert artists. These marbles evoke a callback to the famed Peltier Glass Company, a world-renowned glass producer that made its home right here in Ottawa.

This and more is all thanks to the Ottawa Arts Committee, a group dedicated to the importance of the arts and its relation to our community. There will be opportunities for local artists to display their art in town, sell their work, and enrich our community.

The committee also plans to bring performance art and more murals to Ottawa to make our town that much more picturesque. These murals will be delicately crafted with a special focus on respecting history. There will also be contemporary style murals, ensuring a variety of types of art for all to enjoy.

If that wasn't enough, Nell's Woodland will also host a variety of arts events. These include underground musician concerts, arts tours around the town, an outdoor painting session which will become an exhibit, and contests. Best of all, this is just a taste of what's to come!

Ottawa is also home to several notable art pieces, such as our murals, monuments to historical figures like Abraham Lincoln, the Radium Girls, a Peter Toth carving, and the Allen Park Art Sculptures. The city is full of art we can't wait to share with you.

Ottawa is home to many events that have been well-received by locals and tourists alike for years. The following events have been enjoyed by those near and far for at least ten years!

Midwest Morel Festival was one of many events that was cancelled due to the COVID-19 pandemic. It was well-known for the morel hunt, which encouraged visitors to head out and find their own morels. After worries about the number of morels in the area, it wasn't held the following years either. But fear not, this story has a happy ending. Due to popular demand, the Morel fest made its return in 2024! The 2025 Midwest Morel Festival is dedicated in loving memory to Tom Nauman, our founding father from Morel Mania. Putting on the event would not have been possible without his dedication and passion.

The Festival of Lights is another long-running event—almost 40 years. This winter celebration is a great way to experience the splendor of the holidays in Ottawa. The festival sees a parade travel through the downtown area, culminating in a dazzling tree-lighting ceremony. The sound of fireworks and song fill the air as Ottawa welcomes the beginning of the holiday season in this iconic event. It typically coincides with the first day of the Chris Kringle Market.

The Chris Kringle Market is a large, outdoor Christmas market. Visitors to the market can expect to see a plethora of unique vendors with a wide variety of interesting goods. Clothing, sweets, accessories, toys, crafts, and more await! Whether you're grabbing a present for a loved one or looking to treat yourself, you're bound to find the perfect gift.

Friendship Days is a week full of summertime fun for the whole family! There is something for everyone when it comes to this exciting time in Ottawa. Sidewalk sales, Music in the Park, the Outdoor Craft and Vendors' show, and so much more. For the little ones, there's the Touch-A-Truck and the Kids' Fishing Rodeo. Touch-A-Truck encourages children to climb and explore large vehicles like fire trucks, tractors, and more. Plus, the event includes food, desserts, and children's entertainment. The Kids' Fishing Rodeo is an opportunity for children to try their hand at the art of fishing!

The Starved Rock Country Marathon begins in the heart of historic downtown Ottawa and takes runners on a scenic journey along the Illinois River, leading them through Starved Rock State Park. This exciting event is a truly unique way to experience the scenery of Ottawa and the surrounding area.

MIDDLE OF HISTORY

Ottawa, Illinois is steeped in history, where the stories of the past come alive through beautifully preserved architecture and iconic landmarks. As the site of the first Lincoln-Douglas Debate in 1858, Ottawa proudly honors its rich heritage with monuments, museums, and guided tours that weave tales of political courage and pioneer spirit.

Stroll through historic downtown to admire the charming buildings, visit the magnificent Reddick Mansion, or walk along the scenic I&M Canal to immerse yourself in the city's vibrant past. Discover the Native American heritage and explore the pivotal moments that shaped American history, as Ottawa stands as a living tribute to the innovators and visionaries who left their mark on the region.

For a truly unique experience, take a tour with our local historian Tom Aussem through Awesome Ottawa Tours and hear captivating stories that only a passionate local can share. Whether you're a history buff or just curious, Ottawa's past is ready to be explored!

"The Radium Dial Corporation was a US-based company that produced glow-in-the-dark watches and other instruments during the early 20th century. The company was established in 1917 and operated several plants across the United States, including one in Ottawa, Illinois. The company used a luminous processing technique that involved painting the dials of watches and instruments with a radioactive substance called radium.

The Radium Girls were young women who worked at the Radium Dial Corporation in Ottawa, Illinois, during the 1920s. They were responsible for painting the watch dials with a fine brush dipped in radium-laced paint. The workers were instructed to use their lips to sharpen the brushes, which led to ingestion of the radioactive material. The workers were not informed of the dangers of radium exposure, and they were led to believe that the substance was harmless.

Over time, the Radium Girls began to develop a range of severe health problems. Many of the workers died as a result of their exposure to radium, which was found to be highly carcinogenic. In the ensuing years, the Radium Girls became the focus of a national scandal, and their plight led to major changes in workplace safety regulations in the United States.

The impact of the Radium Dial Corporation and the Radium Girls on Ottawa, Illinois, was significant. Many of the workers at the plant were local residents, and the town was deeply affected by the tragedy. The Radium Dial Corporation was eventually forced to shut down, and the town's economy suffered as a result. The story of the Radium Girls also had a lasting impact on the national conversation about workplace safety and the dangers of exposure to hazardous materials.

The Radium Dial Corporation, Luminous Processes and the Radium Girls represent a dark chapter in Ottawa and American history. Their legacy serves as a reminder of the importance of workplace safety regulations and the need for companies to prioritize the health and well-being of their workers. The tragedy of the Radium Girls will never be forgotten, and Ottawa, Illinois offers many opportunities to learn and pay respect to these shining lives."

BUFFALO ROCK STATE PARK

Buffalo Rock State Park is one of several gorgeous natural areas in Ottawa. Visitors can make use of a variety of park amenities in addition to exploring park trails. Picturesque views of the river atop the bluffs and lush, vibrant greenery await your visit.

The trails of Buffalo Rock State Park, located at 1300 North 27th Road, provide visitors with the chance to take in the spectacular view of the Illinois River and surrounding area from atop its cliffs and bluffs. Parkgoers can also hike the Woodland Trail, which offers an opportunity to immerse yourself in nature amongst the trees, plants, and thriving wildlife. The site also hosts a baseball diamond, shelter with vending machines, the Effigy Tumuli, and the signature attractions of Buffalo Rock State Park.

Buffalo Rock is home to two American bison. These majestic animals can be seen daily, grazing in their pasture. As you spend some quality time with these creatures, try to think about what it would have looked like to see whole herds of bison traversing the landscape in the past.

The Effigy Tumuli are earthen art sculptures built to emulate those constructed by Indigenous peoples thousands of years ago. These effigies would serve as temple platforms or burial mounds. The sculptures were the product of a creative coal mining reclamation project on land donated by the Ottawa Silica Company. There are five effigies: a snake, turtle, catfish, frog, and water strider.

History is abundant at Buffalo Rock. Indigenous peoples once made their homes in the area. The French later built a trading and missionary fort at Buffalo Rock, along with the Miami tribe who also built their own fort. In 1912, the Chicago-based Crane Company purchased the land to use as a sanatorium and summer vacation ground for thousands of employees and their families. In 1927, the company donated the land to the state and Buffalo Rock officially became a state park in 1928.

With natural beauty all around, bison peacefully grazing, and effigies on site, Buffalo Rock State Park allows visitors to take a step into the past and see the land as it once was.

NELL'S WOODLAND

Nell's Woodland is a unique attraction inspired and supported by former Ottawan James Downey. The property is home to 58 acres of lush, oaky woodland, as well as several trails and facilities dedicated to education and sustainability. The Woodland is open Thursday through Monday, from 8 am to 5 pm. Registration for visits and events is required. There are free public access passes available for the morning or afternoon.

Visit <https://www.NellsWoodland.com> for more information.

The Nell's Foundation seeks to explore our relationship with nature through a variety of programs focusing on ecological stewardship, wellness, and the arts. Visitors can explore trails on their own for some peace and relaxation, join a guided hike for an educational experience, and so much more.

The Ecology Center houses educational programs, yoga classes, and meeting spaces at Nell's Woodland. Through a partnership with Illinois Valley Community College, several courses are offered on site.

Everyone is encouraged to make a visit to Nell's Woodland and enjoy what the environment has to offer. The foundation believes that connecting with nature can help inspire ourselves, promote curiosity, and help us become more mindful and expressive.

Nell's Woodland regularly holds collaborative events with community partners like the Reddick Public Library, the University of Illinois Extension, and more. Event details can be found on the Nell's Woodland event calendar.

DAYTON BLUFFS PRESERVE

The Dayton Bluffs Preserve was created as a result of a collaboration between The Conservation Foundation and the City of Ottawa, who now jointly manage the property's long-term restoration efforts and day-to-day operations respectively. The site's natural areas are maintained by the Friends of Dayton Bluffs volunteer group. The preserve, located at 2997 Illinois Rt. 71, was recognized as an Illinois Land and Water Reserve by the Illinois Nature Preserves Commission in 2014.

At the Dayton Bluffs Preserve, visitors can experience 253 acres of the raw beauty of nature in the midst of ecological restoration. Prairies, forest paths, small cascades, and more can be found on the property. Important historical sites are located on the property as well, including the Daniels family pioneer cemetery and Native American burial mounds.

The Conservation Foundation readily recognizes that Indigenous people lived on the land and as stewards of it, held a vital relationship with the land that now makes up the preserve and areas outside of it as well. With Native American burial grounds and other pieces of history in Dayton Bluffs, the area is both an important natural and archaeological one.

Through the ecological restoration process, Dayton Bluffs gives us a unique view of an ecosystem in recovery. Thanks to the work of volunteers, many invasive plant species have been removed from the area. About 100 acres of farmland have been restored into native prairie as well. Beyond the restoration project, there are also plans to further outfit the preserve with more amenities.

A trip to Dayton Bluffs is a fantastic way to get in touch with both nature and history. With 100 acres of open prairie and 150 acres of woodland, the Dayton Bluffs Preserve is sure to charm all who visit.

Whether you're visiting for the weekend, planning a family getaway, or searching for your forever home, this resort-style community in the heart of Starved Rock Country offers the perfect blend of adventure, comfort, and connection.

At the center of the action is our full-service marina, a boater's dream with over 140 boat slips, fueling, and dockside amenities. Bring your own boat and make Heritage Harbor your home port or explore slip ownership opportunities and secure your spot on the water for seasons to come.

No boat? No problem. Our wide array of rental options—from kayaks, Fiestas and paddleboards to performance pontoons and e-bikes—lets you explore by land or water. For the ultimate convenience and flexibility, Quest Express Boat Club provides unlimited access to premium boats without the hassle of ownership through its boating membership program. Just reserve, ride, and relax.

When it's time to unwind, Harbor Inn welcomes you with a variety of vacation rentals—cozy cottages, stylish townhomes, and spacious waterfront homes, all just steps from the marina and resort amenities. Soak in the pool, dine al fresco, or catch a sunset on the riverwalk.
